

Kinryū

These pieces are named after shogi piece-making masters of the Edo period. There were two generations with the same name. In the 1860s, pieces decorated by the second generation Kinryū are said to have been very popular. It is said that the Ichikawa Beian style of calligraphy made by Kinryū replaced the original Kinryū's one.